FRIENDS OF SAILOR MATHISON SAY HE WAS

FOR HIS MONEY! CALIFORNIA INSTRUCTS FOR HEARST

PETER F. MATHISON, SLAIN SAILOR.

BOUND FAST FOR HEARST.

"RESOLVED. That our delegates to the National Convention, to be held in St. Louis July 6, 1904, be, and they are hereby instructed to vote for William Randolph Hearst for the nomination for President of the United States, and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination."

Resolution adopted by the California Democratic State Convention, at Santa Cruz, Cal.

Vote for Him First, Last and All the Time, Instructions to Delegates to St. Louis Convention.

SANTA CRUZ, CAL., May 18.—After a session of two days the Democrats of California instructed the delegates to St. Louis to vote, first, last and all the time for W. R. Hearst for President.

The resolution of instruction was carried by a vote of 285 to 36. The result came after one of the most desperate political conflicts that ever marked the history of California.

The Hearst forces overcame an organized opposition of the Southern Pacific Railroad and all the other trust interests of the State.

For years Hearst has waged an unceasing war on the Southern Pacific, and which sought to dominate the politics and monopolize the commerce of California. The Southern Pacific forces in this fight made a supreme effort to destroy Hearst. They brought into the battle some of the strongest and ablest machine politicians that ever manipulated convention. They spent an expense to bring about the elimination of Hearst as an opposing force to their present and future schemes.

Masses for Hearst.

But the friends of Hearst would not be daunted by the full expression of feelings of the great masses of that State.

They demanded for Hearst unopposed and absolute instructions. They would have this or nothing. They won by a narrow margin of votes, yet, considering the tactics of the leaders of the opposition, it was a decided victory. The debate on the resolution lasted twelve hours. The strongest speeches in favor of Hearst were made by John J. Barry, Robert W. Alden, of San Francisco.

In addition to having an instructed delegation, Mr. Hearst has instructed the delegates who will work for him day and night. Fifteen out of the sixteen delegates from the Congressional districts were elected as Hearst men before the resolution was put to vote, and their votes on Mr. Hearst's behalf will not be small within the limits of the resolution of instruction.

Anti-Trust Plank.

The platform adopted by the convention has the raising of sufficient revenue to pay the Government economically administered.

"The difference between poverty and the degree of protection to be afforded."

HINTS AT MURDER PLOT!

Mrs. Anna Arzillo, With Whom Mathison Boarded, Declares: "There's Something Behind All This"—Was Comparatively Wealthy—Showed His Money to Man and Woman, Whom the Police Seek—"Frenchy" Nickerson Also Sought.

FOOTPADS HOPED TO ROB RICH GIRL

LOVE LEVER IS CLUE TO JEWELRY ROBBERY

Robbers Who Took Money From Miss Spring Were Disappointed.

The police are convinced that the footpads who held up and robbed Miss Joseph Spring, near her home at No. 11 Hutchins street, Roxbury, were on the lookout for Miss Fine, who passes that point every evening with considerable money in her possession.

Miss Fine is the daughter of Mrs. Daniel Shepley, proprietor of a liquor store, formerly run by her husband, who is dead. Her daughter takes the receipts of the place home in the evening, and it is now believed that Miss Fine was mistaken for her.

The highwaymen got $5 and a silver watch from Miss Spring. At her home today she said:

"I walked the three men standing on the corner of State street and Elm Hill avenue when I left the car. They were all rough-looking characters, and as I started along the hill avenue I noticed the men separate, and one of them walked rapidly after me."

"When I had started reached the corner of State street, the fellow suddenly ran forward and seized my handbag and ran away, and, driving me a short way, sent me whirling to the sidewalk. I sprang to my feet as quickly as possible, in time to see the three men running in the direction of Franklin Park. I gave chase, but there was no use as the street, and after running two blocks I had to give up."

Miss Spring today gave a detailed description of her assailants to detectives from Police Headquarters and from the Roxbury police station.

The police declared after they had talked with the young woman that it would be but a short time before they had at least one of the men in custody, as they knew him from a description.

Police Captain Cullen detailed Special Officer Kewin on the case.

"It's the first hold-up in my precinct," he said, "and I'm going to see to it that it does not occur again."

FRIENDS OF PETER F. MATHISON, THE SAILOR, WHOSE BODY WAS FOUND IN THE HARBOR WITH SKULL FRACTURED, DECLARED TO-DAY THAT THEY BELIEVED THE MAN WAS THE VICTIM OF A MURDER PLOT THAT INCLUDED THE POSSESSION OF HIS MONEY AND A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT OF PROPERTY WHICH HE FORMERLY POSSESSED.

THE POLICE TO-DAY ARE LOOKING FOR "FRENCHY" NICKERSON, WHO WAS A FRIEND OF THE DEAD MAN, AND, WITH AN UNKNOWN WOMAN, THE LAST PERSON SO FAR AS IS KNOWN WHO SAW HIM ALIVE. THE POLICE WANT NICKERSON TO GIVE THEM A MORE DETAILED ACCOUNT OF THE LAST MEETING OF THE TWO MEN, WHEN MATHISON SHOWED NICKERSON BETWEEN $500 AND $600. THIS WAS ON TREMONT STREET, IN FRONT OF THE PARK STREET CHURCH, ON SUNDAY EVENING, APRIL 10.

Nickerson met a young woman there by appointment, and had Mathison with him. They asked the sailor to accompany them to dinner, but Nickerson says he declined, and they left him.

Mrs. Anna Arzillo, at No. 151 Richmond street, with whose mother, Mrs. Anna Anderson, of No. 36 Thetford street, Mathison boarded for ten years and where Nickerson formerly boarded, said to-day that the dead man had considerable more property than many of his friends suspected.

BOLD CHELSEA HOUSE.

"I know that he sold his home at No. 10 Blenheim street, Chelsea," he said, "and that he had a lot more property in East London. Whether he sold that or not I do not know. I saw a person last night who knew Mathison and also showed me some papers that have a bearing on the matter that would surprise you."

"I cannot tell you the name of the person."

TWO 18-YEAR-OLD LADS ARRESTED AND ARE CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Through a hole better formed in the pocket of Robert W. Fisher, arrested at his home, 41 Field street, Roxbury, this morning, the police of the Dedham street station have got track of several hundred dollars' worth of missing jewelry.

Vincent Fisher, 18, of 125, of Wyandham, N. Y., also charged with jewelry theft, was arrested.

The letter, the signature to which the police are carefully examining, and which can interview the young woman, is as follows:

"Dear Herbert: I love you as much as ever. Do you think of me often? I find your jewelry presents very much and I want to thank you for them."

Miss Frances Atwood, a vulgar at 279 Columbia avenue, left her gold watch and chain, four rings, a necklace and a pair of bracelets on her dressing table while she went to breakfast. She returned in twenty minutes to find that they had disappeared.

Mrs. Mary E. Holland, the landlady, informed Captain O'Leary, of the Dedham street station, who detailed Special Officer Hogan on the case. In his interview with a young man who lodges on the same floor, Hogan learned that he had received a call that morning from two friends.

Through Fisher the two were traced to his room, in Roxbury. Both stoutly denied that they had had anything to do with the robbery, although admitting that they had been in Miss Atwood's room and had seen the jewelry there. Fisher refused to give the address of the girl whose name was signed to the letter, but the police believe they will locate her tonight.

Each of the prisoners is eighteen years of age.

FRIESLAND HAS BROKEN SHAFT

QUENSTOWN, May 18.—The Red Star liner Friesland, from Philadelphia for Liverpool, which arrived here yesterday evening, and started for Liverpool, now lies idle with a broken shaft sixteen miles southeast of Liverpool.

Tugs have gone to her assistance. It is expected she will reach Liverpool tonight.

The liner carries thirty second-class and 112 third-class passengers. All are well. So far as is ascertained as to the safety of the steamer, as the weather is splendid.

DIES AND VOLUNTARY.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 18.—Miss Wealthy Watson, twenty-three, has been found dead in her home, with violence played in large letters over her white muslin waist and skirt. She had taken strychnine.

GEN. PEARSON HELD ON BLACKMAIL CHARGE

NEW YORK, May 18.—General Samuel Pearson, of Seneca, Pa., who served as General Louis B. Rhea in the War, and Comelia W. Van Der Horst, a foreign correspondent, of Washington, D. C., have been arrested on the complaint of Walter Davis, Assistant Secretary of State under President McKinley, and held in $5,000 bail each, charged with sending letters threatening Davis's life unless $30,000 was forthcoming.

GREAT WAR ON W. S. CO.

Jerome Will Issue Complaint
Charging Felony in Giving Poolsrooms News.

DROPS JOHN DOE PLAN

By Boston American Leased Wire.
NEW YORK, May 18.—Owing to the change of front of the Western Union Company, the district attorney today has abandoned his original line of a John Doe proceeding and will proceed against the W. U. as a corporation. He will prepare a formal complaint charging the company with a conspiracy, charged to it with aiding and abetting a felony in supplying news to poolsrooms, which this afternoon will be submitted to Mr. Justice Wyatt. If he approves it a certified copy will be served upon counsel for the Western Union.

Under the law the telegraph company will have ten days in which to file a reply. This will not prevent Mr. Jerome from subpoenaing any director or official of the company before him in the interim in order to get evidence by which to substantiate his complaint.

The year has forced President Cleverly to cut off racing news service from all poolsrooms and bookies in New York city. This means a decrease of the Western Union's income of $500,000 a year. The company's dividend on the capital stock of over $200,000 is only five per cent and the shutting off of this revenue possibly means that there will be no dividend next year.

New England Gets News.
While the racing service has been cut off in New York, Providence, Fall River, New Haven and other New England cities, where pool rooms flourish, will still be getting it.

It is alleged also that the New York pool rooms have not been deprived of news, instruments and operators, and that the racing news is being furnished from other cities, involving a delay of only a few minutes.

The gambling element, to resist what threatens to wipe them out completely, have combined and established a fund for legal self defense. They are contributing to the aid of James Leachman, the millionaire copper mine, indicted by the grand jury for refusing to testify against Richard Canfield.

As soon as President Cleverly's statement was made public a number of reporters sought him at his home and were refused them all to his secretary.

"Colonel Cleverly issued the order," said the secretary, "because he was satisfied it was the only way to stop the poolsroom evil."

"Has he ordered the racing news discontinued in cities outside of New York, and is there anything in it to prevent the same from supplying them in the city?"

Evaded Point Query.
"I don't know anything about the poolsroom outside of New York, and I don't see that concerning it is any more than President Cleverly's statement covers the ground."

Mr. Jerome said the order is "a weak sort of bluff."
"Will Mr. Cleverly deny that the racing information is sent outside the State and then returned over Western Union wires or other telephones?" he asked.

"If the W. U. is carrying on a legitimate business and has no right to send it, it is not my business to stop it."

ARMED MEN GUARD COMPANY'S

$5,000,000 RACING GRAFT

IMPORTANT secrets of the Western Union telegraph company, one of the greatest corporations in the world, have at last been laid bare. The inside workings of the "racing department," which has served Boston betting men in the past, are now made public.

This department, which has its headquarters for the country on the seventh floor of the building at No. 195 Broadway, New York, is the greatest curiosity on the part of telegraph operators.

The general operating room of the company is on the eighth floor of the Western Union building. The "racing department" is on the seventh floor, a carefully guarded place that even a trusted operator from another part of the building cannot enter it for a minute in case of a fire.

The portion of the floor occupied by this department is a small room, but it is a room of great importance. It is the only place in the building where a single word of racing news is sent out.

PRIVATE.
NO ADMITTANCE.

The secret men of the company are the "racing men" who are the only ones who are allowed to enter the department. They are the only ones who are allowed to enter the department. They are the only ones who are allowed to enter the department.

MARRIED AT 14, HUSBAND ABUSES HER, AND SHE IS NOW FREE, AGED 15 YEARS.

JENNIE COLEMAN.

YOUNGEST DIVORCEE IN AMERICA.

Jennie Coleman's beauty and child's demeanor profoundly impress Judge Heston, who grants her a divorce, on hearing her story of cruelty and neglect by her husband.

CHICAGO, May 18.—Mrs. Jennie Coleman, aged fifteen, married last year and divorced today by an order of a Chicago court, is the youngest divorcee in the United States.

"If I ever marry again, it will be a hell of a lot," she declares.

Judge Heston was greatly impressed by her childish demeanor and beauty and quickly granted her a divorce on hearing her story of abuse from her husband which she had told.

JOE BAKERS DEFY MASTERS

Strikers Deny Claim of Association to Victory and Will Fight to the Last.

FALL RIVER SYMPATHIZES

Of the 1,400 bakers who went on strike because of the trouble which arose over the use of the hot air oven, 220 are still out today, and declare they will defy the Master Bakers' Association until their demands are granted.

The bakers who fought with that organization have gone to work with the small dealers who signed the agreement, while the remainder are still keeping up the fight. The master bakers claim a victory, but the union men declare that the fight is not yet over.

COSY SPOKER IMPOSSIBILITY

John Brisben Walker Refuses to Consider Judge as Candidate for Presidency.

WOULD FAVOR ROOSEVELT.

By Boston American Leased Wire.
NEW YORK, May 18.—In an interview published in a New York paper this week, John Brisben Walker, in speaking of the present aspirations of Judge Parker, says: "Judge Parker will not be the Democratic nominee for President. Some things are logically impossible, and Parker's nomination for President is one of them. The independent voters never would support his candidacy, and he would be elected at all points. It is not only in New York, and his candidacy would arouse such opposition that success would be impossible for him."

But Mr. Walker was asked, "supposing Judge Parker should be nominated, would you support him?" He replied: "I would support him if he were nominated, but I would not support him if he were elected. I would support him if he were elected, but I would not support him if he were elected."

He was then asked, "would you support Roosevelt?" He replied: "I would support Roosevelt if he were nominated, but I would not support him if he were elected. I would support him if he were elected, but I would not support him if he were elected."

He was then asked, "would you support Taft?" He replied: "I would support Taft if he were nominated, but I would not support him if he were elected. I would support him if he were elected, but I would not support him if he were elected."

He was then asked, "would you support Bryan?" He replied: "I would support Bryan if he were nominated, but I would not support him if he were elected. I would support him if he were elected, but I would not support him if he were elected."

He was then asked, "would you support Cleveland?" He replied: "I would support Cleveland if he were nominated, but I would not support him if he were elected. I would support him if he were elected, but I would not support him if he were elected."

UNION SHOP TO RIUMPH IN THE END

—Samuel Gompers

A. F. of L. President Calls "Open Shop" Proprietors Hypocrites and Evil-Souled.

CAN'T STOP UNION ADVANCE

By Boston American's Leased Wire. PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in addressing the striking elevator constructors here, who are fighting against the open shop, said: "Trade unionists are attached to day more bitterly than ever before. There is this to be said, however:—

"In the early days all classes were arrayed against us. To-day we have to contend with only a small and evil-souled remnant.

"In the days of our youth men who were not satisfied with wages and who tried to discuss matters between their union, were conspirators and traitors. They plotted the ruin of the workers and planned for freedom in the depths of the earth.

Changed in Old Days.

"The man who was once a traitor or a grudging tool and was captured and branded with a white-hot iron by the laborer, is now a villain of the first order. He is now a man who is second time around, and he is now a man who is second time around.

"It is well for you to know the history of this movement to know the history of this movement. It is well for you to know the history of this movement. It is well for you to know the history of this movement.

"We face today a concentration of capital and a class of capital which is not to be feared. It is not to be feared. It is not to be feared. It is not to be feared.

"Open" Is No Union.

"The so-called open shop means a non-union shop. It is the vehicle of the hypocritical employer who pretends to be a laborer, but who has his finger in the pie. I would much rather deal with an employer who is honest than with one of these hypocrites.

"It is irreparable, opposed to the principle of the labor movement, and it is the cause of the laborer. It is the cause of the laborer. It is the cause of the laborer. It is the cause of the laborer.

"The capitalists who are striving to get out of the laborer's hands the means of production, including the means of production, including the means of production, including the means of production.

Labor Must Triumph.

"The small-souled persons who are trying to turn back the clock of labor progress are engaged in an impossible task. They cannot succeed. They cannot succeed. They cannot succeed. They cannot succeed.

"The spirit of generations of suffering, the spirit of generations of suffering, the spirit of generations of suffering, the spirit of generations of suffering. The spirit of generations of suffering, the spirit of generations of suffering.

KILLED 8-HOUR BILL, SAYS PARRY

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 18.—D. M. Parry, president of the Manufacturers' National Association, speaking at the ninth annual convention of the body here, boasted that the association was largely responsible for failure of the eight-hour and anti-trust bills to be reported from the Congressional Committee.

He said: "The closed shop is against public policy and is in defiance of the public interest. It is in defiance of the public interest. It is in defiance of the public interest. It is in defiance of the public interest.

TEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL KEPT FAMILY ALIVE

Father in Hospital, Baby Brother Poisoned, Mother in Collapse, She Proved a Heroine.

Special to the Boston American.

FALL RIVER, May 18.—With her father in the hospital, her baby brother poisoned, her mother in collapse, a ten-year-old girl, Maudie Cullen, was today discovered by the local authorities making an heroic effort to support her family.

The child was seen to enter her home at No. 127 Tremont street carrying a bag of coal on her thin shoulders, by neighbors who had not seen any other members of the family for several days.

An investigation disclosed the fact that last week Maudie Cullen, the father, had fallen down and broken four ribs. He had walked to the house on crutches and had since remained there. The mother, with a four-month-old baby, was last seen at the house.

"Trade," in some manner she administered a dose of medicine to support her family.

MUNROE POPS UP AGAIN AT FORT WORTH

Special to the Boston American, FORT WORTH, Texas, May 18.—Jack Munroe, the heavy weight fighter, who will meet Jeffries at San Francisco, June 17, passed through here today on his way to California, in a train bound for that city. Munroe has been preparing at Hot Springs, Ark., for the coming fight.

Munroe's headquarters will be at the Hotel de la Paz, where he will be staying during his stay in the city. He is expected to leave for San Francisco on June 17, and will arrive there on the morning of the 18th.

The above information will relieve the anxiety of the fans who have been waiting for the news of the fighter's arrival in the city.

Munroe is a native of New York, and has been fighting for several years. He is a very powerful man, and is expected to be a very strong contender for the title.

BIG PURSES FOR HARNESS HORSES

Special to the Boston American, NEW YORK, May 18.—Big money for the harness horse will be the rule this year, as the prize hung up for the trotters and pacers in the Grand Circuit program at Empire City and Brighton during August amount to $100,000.

A couple of stacks of $100,000 each have been attached to the list.

Many requests were made to the Empire City Trotting Club from owners of fast horses to put up a big stake for an open bid, with the result that the club will hold a meeting about 5 o'clock on Saturday.

The value of the stake and the nature of the association, which has jurisdiction over the Grand Circuit, will be the main points to be discussed.

DELMONT AS HE LOOKED JUST BEFORE THE FIGHT.

Special to the Boston American, NEW YORK, May 18.—Big money for the harness horse will be the rule this year, as the prize hung up for the trotters and pacers in the Grand Circuit program at Empire City and Brighton during August amount to $100,000.

A couple of stacks of $100,000 each have been attached to the list.

Many requests were made to the Empire City Trotting Club from owners of fast horses to put up a big stake for an open bid, with the result that the club will hold a meeting about 5 o'clock on Saturday.

The value of the stake and the nature of the association, which has jurisdiction over the Grand Circuit, will be the main points to be discussed.

The above information will relieve the anxiety of the fans who have been waiting for the news of the fighter's arrival in the city.

GIRL BEARS POETIC PALM AMONG SENIORS

MISS WHITING ELECTED CLASS POET IN RECOGNITION OF CLEVER COMPOSITION.

MISS WHITING

HER PLAY IS PRODUCED TO-NIGHT.

First honors for verse writing, in a contest with the entire senior class of Boston University, have been awarded to Miss "Whiting" E. Whiting, a Franklin woman who made her first appearance in the field, in spite of the fact that she is a sophomore. Her composition, "The Poet's Palm," was the only one to receive a unanimous vote of the judges. Miss Whiting has written many other poems and plays, and her play, "The Poet's Palm," is being produced to-night at the Theatre.

PEOPLE REMIND MORE BENCHES FOR PARKS

LETTERS CONTINUE TO POUR IN TO AMERICAN, VOICING WISHES OF PUBLIC.

LETTERS voicing the public protest against the insufficient number of benches on Boston Common, the Public Garden and other city parks continue to pour into the BOSTON AMERICAN office. Since this newspaper called the attention of public officials to the lack of accommodations in the Park for women and children, and urged that more benches be supplied, men and women from all sections of Boston have written, endorsing the AMERICAN's stand.

In spite of these letters, however, the dearth of benches continues. There are few places where women may sit down and rest in the parks, the majority of the benches being occupied from morning until night by chronic park loafers. Some of the letters, protesting against this condition of affairs, follow:

Public Should Indorse It.
 BOSTON AMERICAN:—I am writing you to express my protest against the insufficient number of benches in the parks of Boston. I am sure that the public will indorse my protest.

Wake Up Officials.
 BOSTON AMERICAN:—I am writing you to express my protest against the insufficient number of benches in the parks of Boston. I am sure that the public will indorse my protest.

Friend of the People.
 BOSTON AMERICAN:—I am writing you to express my protest against the insufficient number of benches in the parks of Boston. I am sure that the public will indorse my protest.

He Saw for Himself.
 BOSTON AMERICAN:—I am writing you to express my protest against the insufficient number of benches in the parks of Boston. I am sure that the public will indorse my protest.

Keep Up the Good Work.
 BOSTON AMERICAN:—I am writing you to express my protest against the insufficient number of benches in the parks of Boston. I am sure that the public will indorse my protest.

Women Thank the American.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

NO. 100 N. BOSTON ST., BOSTON, MAY 18, 1904.

The Oldest Fight in the World

R. L. Agent of Injustice and Oppression and History is Full of It.

You can learn at least as much from the record of WHAT IS DONE TO-DAY as you can from the record of what was done a hundred years ago.

That is why we add the newspapers. You can learn more by comparing what is done to-day with what was done a hundred years ago. From that comparison men can see just how far they have moved ON THE GREAT ROAD OF PROGRESS.

And one of the most curious things it shows is that in this queer world of ours one kind of struggle goes on forever and ever. It has different names and looks different at different times, but it is always the same struggle.

Whenever a great victory is won in that struggle the generation that wins it regards it as the final victory. They think that the whole controversy is settled when they win.

They can't see how the lines can be advanced any further than they have advanced them. They can't see why anybody should ever be dissatisfied with the fruits of such a glorious victory.

But the men of the next generation always take up the old fight where their fathers left it and go on with it—sometimes just a little, so you hardly see it, and sometimes a great deal. But they always gain.

And this is the thing they have struggled for in all ages:
AGAINST FORCE AND INJUSTICE, AGAINST THE IDEA THAT MEN ARE TO BE COERCED, AGAINST BOSSING AND ROBBING, AGAINST STRONG MEN DOMINEERING OVER THE LESS FORTUNATE.

In the schools they teach that the idea back of the American Revolution was that there should be no taxation without representation.

Robbing of the kind. The idea back of the American Revolution was that men should not be ROBBED AND BOSSSED. That was all.

Exactly the same idea has been back of the most famous movements in history, from the freeing of Switzerland and the uprising in Graubünden to the struggle of the Tyrolese against Napoleon, of the Greeks against the Turks and the Cubans against the Spaniards.

Men are not to be bossed. They are not to be made to submit to a domination they believe to be unjust and wrong. More blood has been spent to establish that principle than for all other causes together, and after all these centuries it is just beginning to dawn on the world as a fundamental truth.

In the old days men used to boss other men by mere physical strength and with weapons, from stone hatchets to axes. The stone hatchets have disappeared; the boxing remains. The forms of things change; the idea remains about the same.

If you substitute political or financial power for the stone hatchet, the modern political boss is like the set-up of an old Persian province and the trust is the robber baron of Europe in the Middle Ages.

People in a European town, PLUNDERED AND BOSSSED by an old feudal baron, probably used to say:

"What is the use of opposing these things? Robbery is a natural development of modern conditions. It is the spirit of the age. Besides, look at the good the robbers do. They build churches and nice castles, and they are the pillars of society."

No doubt a great many people in the village of Graubünden talked like that. Now and then some man got tired of being ROBBED AND BOSSSED and said so. He was looked upon as a very depraved person, and the barons made short work of him. First they put him in the pillory in the market place for an example to the people. Then they hanged him by the neck from the castle tower. He was a disturber of social order and an unsafe man.

But after a time other people in the Graubünden villages got tired of being robbed and bossed. And one night they got together at St. Anna's Chapel, not far from Linz, and started for the barons. About an hour later the barons started for the frontier. Some of them tried to catch it. But none of them ever came back. After that there was no more robber baron business in Graubünden, and there has been none to this day.

Transported people had broken up THAT form of ROBBING AND BOSSING for good.

They had been confronted with the same old problem, and at last they solved it in their own way.

For a long time they had been very patient about it, so that the robbers thought the people didn't care, and perhaps even enjoyed the ROBBING AND BOSSING.

You can see in Graubünden now a long line of wrecked castles. They were so insecure that the barons were in error about the people.

Graubünden is the eastern corner of Switzerland. It has been free and self-governing nearly five hundred years. The story of how it got its freedom is more fascinating than any romance.

We say that history repeats itself when what we mean is that the struggle of man is the same in all ages, and sometimes it brings about similar conflicts and similar events.

In these days conditions have changed so that men do not fight with their swords against robbers and barons. They fight with BALLYOON.

Some men let the robbing and bossing go on a long time, just as the old men in Graubünden.

But I don't like it, and they know it is wrong, but the robbers and the bosses have been established and the people are very busy about other things, so they have not even yet how they could remedy the matter. But they don't do it, in their hearts they hate it, and rebel against it.

And then after a time the thing gets to be too rank to be endured and some men get out into the open and attack them. All of a sudden the people get up at the polls and chase THE ROBBERS AND BOSSING over the political frontier.

And the curious thing is that, like the barons of Graubünden, they never come back. There has not been a robber baron, and no boss, but the people have taken the law into their own hands, and the robber barons and bosses are gone.

And now the people are free, and they are not bossed and robbed any more. It is a new world, and it is a new world.

This umpire never is hissed,
Both bleachers and grand stand insist
Without batting an eye
That he's square as a die;
What a pity he doesn't exist.

This pitcher such finish and nerve
Put into his newest outburst
That the balls that he threw
At his own waste view,
And his features are now in preserve.

This base runner said: "Without doubt
If I carry my base about,
I'll be Jack-on-the-spot
If the ball is not,
And they simply cannot put me out."

This batter can bat like great guns.
When they pitch him those spiral curve ones
The ball disappears,
While 'mid deafening cheers
He comes in with fourteen home runs.

Lady Henry Somerset Defends Business Women.

The business woman is none the less a woman because she is in business, and there is nothing more honorable than the woman who holds her own as a business woman. It is not her sex that prompts her to do so, and makes her a business woman.

Again and again I have known instances of men who have failed in business, who have had homes of ease and comfort who have been ruined when it has been necessary for them to run their own business. They have not been able to get on their feet in the business world, and they have not been able to get on their feet in the business world.

Moreover, there are many brave girls who find it a necessary duty, their living by working in banks, in the post office, in government offices and financial houses to-day.

There is no woman in I have already said one form of business life which I strongly deprecate, that is an institution common at the present time. A girl, perhaps, has a good home and nothing much to do. She wishes to improve her mind, to use in order that she may have more to spend upon her pleasures, and consequently it comes about that one of the great hindrances to the success of the wage-earning woman is created by the fact that there are hundreds, especially of young women, who go into the labor market from homes of ease and comfortable affluence, simply to exhaust their pin or pocket money.

By accepting less than a living wage they do an incalculable injustice to their sisters, who require a living wage in order to live.

Every woman who sets out to earn her own living ought to see that the fact that she does so induces no other woman to do the same.

FARLEY, the Strike-Breaker.

How He Has Organized and Has Ready for Instant Marching Orders an Army of 1,500 Professional Strike-Breakers Eager to Fight Union Labor in Any Part of the Country.

THE recent disagreement between the New York City and the employees of August Belmont's new Cityway Company, has brought to light a very new and dangerous figure in the industrial world, James Farley, professional strike-breaker.

When Mr. Belmont as a strike breaker, we have 1,500 skilled men waiting to go on to the city to break the strike. We let a large part of the day. The 1,500 men are organized, many of professional strike-breakers, for the command of Farley. With almost military discipline Farley commands these men and they have fought campaigns after campaign against unions, and like a general at the head of his army, Farley is obeyed even to the rifle and the club.

James Farley, professional strike-breaker, is an interesting figure in the labor situation, as is a somewhat less interesting figure in the world of the laborer as given by Mr. Farley's admiring admirers and admirers, J. and H. Ward.

It is far apart from the position of Mr. Farley and his methods. The interesting fact has developed incidentally that at least seven non-union street car companies throughout the United States have turned to Farley, the strike-breaker, whenever he needs them. These trolley companies are in San Francisco, Baltimore, Washington and Bridgeport, Conn.; Jersey City, Newark, and Trenton, N. J. How many other non-union recruits are always awaiting the telegram of Mr. Farley in the States between Connecticut and California has not been developed.

So far Mr. Farley claims to have successfully broken forty-eight strikes here and there about the country with his army of 1,500 faithful strike-breakers. The working terms of this new figure in the labor world are as follows: Each man summoned but not working is paid each day..... $2.50 Farley receives for each man..... $2.50 Each man working is paid expenses and each day..... $2.50 All men in the army receive railroad ticket from employing company. At conclusion of San Francisco strikes each man received gift from company of $10.

HOW WE HAVE BROKEN 48 STRIKES SO FAR.

BY RICHARD H. WARD, FARLEY'S SECRETARY.

I HAVE been Mr. James Farley's secretary for eight years, ever since he began the business of breaking strikes. His methods are perfectly open and above board, and will bear criticism. Where does he get his men?

What kind of men are they?

How does Farley say them?

And how much does he make out of each strike?

People ask me these questions a hundred times a day. They seem to think there is a great mystery about the strike when the results are as clear as day to the man that understands the strike.

To answer the last question first I will say that I don't know just how much he makes, every one who knows him at all knows that he is rich. He owns four fine houses, two at Pittsburgh, N. Y., one at Brooklyn and one at Cincinnati and he has property in other places.

The FEAR That CONTROLS Us All

Our Real Progress Will Begin When We Shall Have Conquered That Dread of the Future Which Controls Us To-day, as It Controlled the Primitive Savage.

PERHAPS you think that this striking picture does not apply to YOU.

It applies to you, and to every living human being.

Every one of us, swept along irresistibly in the current of life, has his mind fixed upon the future, AND ESPECIALLY UPON ITS DANGERS.

Our only REAL life is in the future. The actual moment is slipping away from us so that we do not really possess it; the past is dead, gone forever, unchangeable.

In the future alone lie our hopes and our fears. And thus far in the world's history fear has had the upper hand.

Have you thought of the part which the future plays in our lives, how absolutely and exclusively we live in the days to come?

The greatest financial institutions in the world are our life insurance companies—organized exclusively to provide against trouble in the future.

The savings banks, with their hundreds of millions of deposits, are so many witnesses to the anxiety which fear of the future plants in every heart.

Our laws are all rules for future guidance. It is a fixed principle that no law must be made "retroactive"—that is to say, the new law must apply only to what should happen in the future, never to what has been done in the past.

Our magnificent and noble public schools, the glory of our country and the hope of humanity, are training grounds for the future. The future of humanity lies in those schools, the care and the millions devoted to them are based on thought of the future.

There is not a man or woman or child in the United States—outside the idiot asylums—but has intense thought and determination fixed on the future.

Every one of us is planning ahead, thinking ahead. And millions of us, through anxiety for the future, are kept from useful accomplishment in the present.

The father has not time to stop and interest himself in anything but money-making, because he must have enough for his children.

The children, in their turn, worry and fret and keep their minds on money because they will need more for THEIR children.

The man who is drudging along doing commonplace, but remunerative work, feels that he might do something worth while if he could devote time to a conscientious effort without regard to pay.

HE tells himself that SOME day he will produce the best that is in him. SOME day he will stop and devote his energies solely to some achievement worth while.

BUT FIRST HE MUST PROTECT HIMSELF AGAINST THE FUTURE.

First he must secure financial independence, which means freedom from slavery.

His few years go by, and his present and his future melt into the past, death comes and finds that his few hours have all been given up to his fear of the future which is now forever gone.

How many men that could have been great have been mere money-earning drudges because their actual moments of work were devoted to providing for the future that never came?

How many of our politicians, beginning life with real ambition, give up everything to their servile fear of the future, using the bright possibilities of to-day simply to protect themselves against sordid fears for to-morrow?

You see a man of Tom Reed's great power almost at the head of the national government deliberately have dignified public office to enter the service of dishonest corporations as a law-twisting lawyer.

He announced that he felt it his duty to make some money and provide for the future. He died almost as soon as he had begun this work that was to make his future secure. What would be his feeling if he could look back now?

How many doctors would like to study as they SHOULD study, and make real progress in their science, yet keep on grubbing away at their practice in semi-ignorance—because semi-ignorance NOW means a safe future, while study now might mean a precarious future?

How many men that could have been fine musicians are grinding away in the world's orchestras, known only to the public by the tops of their bald heads—men that might have been not only famous and successful, but genuinely USEFUL, had not dread of the future kept them fiddling or tooting for their daily wage and their small savings bank account, instead of stopping and risking something to give their ability a real chance of development.

They wanted Wagner to write trashy, light music, after one or two of his great works had been contemptuously refused. His own wife begged him to give up his foolish ideas of originality and protect himself against a poverty-stricken future by pot-boiling work in the present. He might have led an orchestra conventionally, he might have written Meyerbeerish trash, tunes to which chorus girls could have lifted their toes rhythmically, had he chosen to do so.

Like the rest of us, he was full of fear of the future, spurred on by actual want in the present, as is proved by his begging letters to Liszt and others. Fortunately, he cared more for the future of his art than the future of his stomach. He might have regretted that, had not a half-crazy King turned up to appreciate him. Anyhow, we have his good work, because the future did not rule him.

The world's great men, the world's GREATEST spirit, put thought of the future behind them, through reverence for the duty of the present.

"Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me. Nevertheless not my will but Thine be done."—Luke, xxii, 42.

There was fear of the future, with its dreadful and clearly foreseen agony. But there also was the spirit of duty and devotion that overcame even the fear of the Cross, to save humanity.

All of those who have feebly imitated the example set in the garden have put their sense of duty ahead of that apprehension for the future, which controls nearly all of us.

The men that established this free government for us did that work because "Live or die, survive or perish," they were determined, REGARDLESS OF THE FUTURE, to strike for human rights.

This same noble example is followed in a humbler and more animal way by the broad-shouldered and ignorant little Japanese soldier that rushes up to the Russian bayonets to-day.

It is followed by the man who has the courage to adopt, or at least listen to, opinions despised by the majority.

And yet there is THE OTHER SIDE.

There is ALWAYS another side. It is too bad that those who write editorials or preach sermons are not always able to see and present that other side.

This fear of the future makes most of us cowards, drudges, commonplace beings.

But that very fear is a part of the great plan TO FORCE PROGRESS upon us.

We shall outgrow this fear when our material, social and economical problems shall have been solved. Our real development and mental growth will begin when the future worries us no longer.

That worry for the future has been necessary throughout the ages, and it is necessary even NOW, to our preliminary development.

We have grown, made discoveries, lifted ourselves from savagery to semi-civilization BECAUSE WE HAVE ALWAYS FEARED THE FUTURE.

Animals were tamed and kept through apprehension of a day when a man should be too old and too stiff to hunt and kill the wild ones. Our flocks, farms and the beginning of the settled family life were based upon the savage's fear of old age, fear of the future.

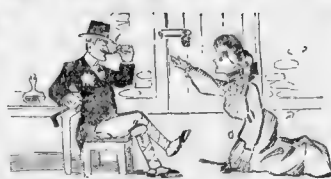

Political progress is based on anxiety about the years to come. That anxiety gave to New Zealand its marvellous system of political economy, which puts that little country at the very top of the list of nations.

It wrested from the English King that charter which is still the basis of the Englishman's liberties. We have by no means outgrown the necessity for this fear of the time ahead. As it has given us already our means of forestalling volcanic eruptions, warning sailors against storms, our quarantines, all our remedies against disease, so it will give us in the future the better laws that we need.

And ultimately, by forcing wisdom upon us, this very fear of the future WILL DESTROY ITSELF, giving to man through his own efforts a system of laws and of life that will make him fear the future no longer, that will enable him to devote his energies in a dignified way to the best and worthiest work that he can do in the present.

When the Villain Says "Ha-Ha-a-a-a!" By J. Frank Davis

I THINK... that there are a few actor folk who put their parts right on the stage and spin the funny tales,
 but some of them carry on; why, when I see a show
 I'm an' I wish I would die. It's awful hard, you know,
 To make the're actin', an' I can't believe it, I've Heard the girl just hollers awful, an' the woman says -

*Of course, I know it's actin' an' he ain't so awful bad,
'Cause pa has told me lots o' times when I was gettin' scared.
But just the same it's creepy when it's all dark at the play
An' there is music playin' in that old basement a-y.
An' when the hero licks him after all, I cry "Hurnah!"
'cos I can't help bein' frightened when the villain says—*

A Fool and His Elevators

Now there was a man of "other," there wasn't, for if he could not be a man of "this," he would not be a man of "more" in erecting a great sky-scraper, made gifts of the elevators to another man who argued with him.

"Now," said this second man, No. 2, when he was presenting his case, "you are a hard-headed business man, and therefore you are entitled to hear me argue. Therefore, as my brain-brained equals, you have an intelligence which means equal to the task of pulling up this towering skyscraper. The elevator is the great profit, your investment, and the letting-off office, the collection of the money, and the details are within your capacity, but when it comes to the abstract and the ideal, you are at a loss. Ah, that is a problem that calls for a different order of intellect. Socialists, the other enemies of society and underlings of established institutions, are the men to whom you must turn for help. It is necessary to raise a tremendous building such as this only in order to demolish it. I can tell you, I can do it and you can't."

would be in should a strike come, and everybody exclaimed against the security of the looming outrage, but who had anything worth while to propose for averting it. Everybody declared, and declared again, that the only way to avert the strike was to give the money greater than that of Mr. Belmont or his employees, but the community had left itself without means to protect its parasitic interest in the city. The only way to avert the strike was to give the money to a skyscraper who should give away the ownership of his elevator to the public and control over their operation.

And now there was an idiotic way with respect to its first such way. It was to be given to the city to be elevated and surface railway franchises. It has supplied the money for constructing the subway and made a present of it to Mr. Belmont, who is at full liberty to use it as he pleases.

Public ownership—that is the only real insurance against a disaster as a leap of the street railroads would be. It is the real answer to the problem of the railroads, which occurs every day when the people are listening to their houses.

To judge a tree by its fruits is fair and Scriptural. Applying the same principle to the railroads, we find that the fruits are the same. The conclusion? We have private ownership; see the results. Sur-

Let us say that the city owned and operated the elevated, and owned the right of way. The city would be liable for the maintenance of the elevated structure and the new portion of the subway should be paid the elevated scale of wages—$2.56 a day. The matter was left to the city council, and the city council has decided that the new portion of the elevated would be paid the elevated scale of wages—$2.56 a day.

Special Cable to Sunday American.
Berlin, Sept. 18.—Egging in horror, ferocity and unspoke abhorrence—in everything but the number of victims—the atrocities of Kishineff, the recent anti-Semitic riots at Sosnovics, near the German frontier, resulted in the death of at least fifty Jews, while few of the scores in the hospitals are expected to recover.

Reports that have just come in from Koenigs-Manette, indicate that the earlier reports greatly underrated the extent of the horror. The riot started like those at Kishineff. Hapless Jews who were unable to hide safely were butchered or tortured in the streets. The town was filled with a mob that rushed madly from place to place crying, "Death to the Jews!"

Women Horribly Mutilated.
The Hebrews scattered at the first cry, with the mob in wild pursuit. Running men were stabbed in the back with knives or shot down by revolvers as they fled. Women were horribly mutilated before being put out of misery, and the few men who resisted when they witnessed the atrocities committed upon their women, were tortured and finally left to die in agony.

The streets were filled with dead and dying when the mob returned and mutilated the corpses in the most brutal manner. Nearly all the killed and wounded had their breasts and abdomens slashed. In some cases arms and legs were cut off and thrown to the half-wild, snarling dogs, who devoured them before the victims were fairly dead.

Wherever a Hebrew was found he was put to the most cruel torture. Young Woman Slashed Fifty-eight Times.
A young Jewess, a Mrs. Golencer, the mother of five children, was caught while trying to get her children away from the mob, as well as herself. She was slashed and stabbed fifty-eight times and left lying in the street in horrible agony.

When the mob had left the street some of her co-religionists crawled out from their hiding and dragged her to the hospital, where she died soon after.

The rioters beat down the doors of the synagogue and seized Shewer, the cantor, an old man. They twisted his arm until it broke out of its socket. Then they slashed him and left him writhing upon the floor.

A merchant named Leiper was beaten with bludgeons until his jawbone and all his teeth were broken. Then they cut several fingers off and left him.

Police Refused Assistance.
During all this carnival of murder and torture the police refused to render any assistance to the helpless Jews. It is stated that the chief of police, at the first indication that the riot was coming, deliberately sent some of his men to suburbs remote from the scene of the trouble.

Some parts of the streets were literally flooded with blood, and in every thoroughfare lay the mangled bodies of Hebrews when, from sheer exhaustion, the frenzied mob gave up the man-hunt.

HUNDRED HOMES RAZED AT SMOLEA
St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—The newspaper Kievskan publishes details of the few burning horrors at Smolea. Over 100 houses, 150 shops, two school buildings, two synagogues and the Public Library, with thousands of valuable books, the gift of the wife of Dr. Stern, have been razed to the ground. Many families have lost their all and are now penniless and without shelter. The number of the injured is not yet known, but it is said to be appalling.

PERSECUTE JEWS IN RUSSIAN ARMY
London, Sept. 17.—There can no longer be any doubt about the fact that the Russian reverse at the front have demoralized the Russian soldiers at home.

HIS MOTHER DEFENDS TUCKER

"He Never Did That Awful Deed," Mrs. Tucker Declares to Eleanor Ames.

"HE IS INNOCENT AND HE WILL BE SET FREE!" Faith in Him Has Never Wavered for a Moment Since His Arrest.

"I MUST WAIT UNTIL HE COMES BACK TO ME!"

Even in Her Belief, She Bears Her Great Sorrow with Resignation and Patience.

By Eleanor Ames.
Once more the trial of Charles L. Tucker on the charge of having killed Miss Lutz has been postponed. Immediate hope of having his fate judicially settled has been taken from the young man, who since April has been incarcerated in the East Cambridge Jail.

Instead of preparing for the happy reunion with her son, which Mrs. Tucker so confidently expects, she is trying to possess her soul in patience for a time longer.

While no new trial date has been fixed those who profess to know say that it will not be delayed more than a month.

In the meantime life for the mother and son will go on in much the same way in which it has passed for nearly six months.

The son still reads and waits. The mother will go quietly along with the routine of her household duties, be leaving in the innocence of her boy and keeping a brave heart for his sake.

Between the stern, red brick, fronted building which shelters the son, and the attractive vine-clad cottage wherein dwells the mother, there is a world wide contrast.

Often at night, lying on his bed, from out, in his narrow cell, with only the hoarse breathing and muttered dreams of the other prisoners, and the tread of the keepers to break the silence, Charles Tucker must see in his mind's eye the pretty, peaceful home in Auburndale, the patient, sweet-faced mother, the broken-hearted father, the brother, who are sharing his sorrow and his anxiety.

Every day, every night, waking or sleeping, whether busy about the house or yard, or resting after her labors, the mother's thoughts are with her boy in his guarded cell.

"I know, as nearly as I can know, anything," declares his mother, "that my boy is innocent of that awful awful crime!"

Never for a moment has her faith wavered or her courage grown faint. It is marvelous, the way in which she has held out her courage and belief in her son who has fallen upon her.

When I asked her a day or two ago it was difficult for her to believe that she had passed through so fearful an experience. She said that she had never known such a time in her life as she has known since her son was taken from her.

BOSTON DEMOCRATS PERFECT TAMMANY ORGANIZATION

LEADER FITZGERALD TALKS LOCAL MACHINE DECLARES FOR DOUGLAS AND HAMLIN

William T. A. Fitzgerald, president of the Democratic City Committee, as sketched by Artist Carl of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN'S art staff.

Leader of Boston Democracy Talks of Present and Future Plans of Organization.

BY J. FRANK DAVIS.
The strongest ticket for the Democrats of Massachusetts this fall would be Douglas and Hamlin. With these two men nominated for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, the Democrats would conduct a victorious campaign. Under such circumstances not only would Boston take as great a leap forward as it has ever taken, but the State would also. It is the opinion of the Democrats that the nomination of Douglas and Hamlin would give the party a chance to win the State. The party is now in a position to win the State, and the Democrats are determined to win it. The party is now in a position to win the State, and the Democrats are determined to win it.

Mr. Tucker a Revolution.
I am not sure what measure of woman I had expected to see, but Mrs. Tucker was a revolution to me. She is a woman of modest height, who carries herself so well that she appears to be taller than she really is. Her figure, plump and rounded, was a surprise to me.

DOUGLAS FOR GOVERNOR OR VICE GOVERNOR OF BOSTON DEMOCRATS Governor Garvin Explains Rhode Island's Special Legislative Session

By His Excellency, Governor Lucius F. C. Garvin.

THE object of my calling the session at this time was to place upon the Republican political machine, which directs the actions of the majority of the General Assembly, a full and definite responsibility for the important pending constitutional amendments; also to give it an opportunity to recede from the obnoxious post-election session which had been fixed for November.

Two courses were open to the Republican machine. It could pass one or more of the pending constitutional amendments, or it could refuse to do anything. It chose the latter course, and the people will decide by their own ballots on the fourth day of November whether they approve of that non-action.

Your second inquiry as to my view of the resolution just passed by the Legislature condemnatory of my action in calling the extraordinary session can be answered briefly. In fact only one of the series of charges made against me in that resolution needs reply. The charge to which I refer is that "His Excellency has assumed in said proclamation to direct the commission elected by the General Assembly to revise the laws relating to the judicial system of the State, as to whom it shall make its report," etc.

Last winter's joint resolution of the General Assembly enacting the commission provided that "said commission shall file its report with the Secretary of State on or before the twenty-second day of October, 1904."

My proclamation, issued on the twenty-first day of last April, said: "The commission to revise the judiciary system of the State, if it reports to this General Assembly, should make that report prior to and not subsequent to election."

If the commission had filed its report with the Secretary of State on the first day of September, it would have had more than four months in which to complete its work, it would have complied with the direction to file on or before October 22, and the report would have been acted upon at this September session.

All of which would have been in conformity with the legislative requirement, and far more in the public interest than will be the election of judges by a defunct Legislature.

As to the parliamentary struggle in the Senate, the leader of that body had an advantage over me. He occupied the position of an advocate; I of a judge. His aim was to win; mine to do right. Under such circumstances it is possible for both to succeed in the end they have in view. LUCIUS F. C. GARVIN.

LOOK IS FOR GOVERNOR; HAMLIN FOR LEUTENANT GOVERNOR, SUGGESTS LEADER FITZGERALD.

DEMOCRATS CONFIDENT THEY WILL CAPTURE RHODE ISLAND

LEADERS EXPECT TO PLACE IT IN LINE FOR PARKER.

Gov. Garvin for Governor and Granger and Owen for Congress, a Team with Which a United Party Can Beat Republicans.

Special to the Boston American. Providence, Sept. 17.—The Rhode Island party in Rhode Island is making for itself a new campaign line for the coming year while the Democrats are busy with the most energetic campaign in the history of the State.

The Republicans are saying little, but they are working like beavers and have a full campaign line for the coming year while the Democrats are busy with the most energetic campaign in the history of the State.

It is now generally expected that a large majority of those independent voters, who have so loyally supported Governor Garvin for two years past, will endorse Judge Parker in preference to Mr. Roosevelt.

SPALDING FREE FROM JOLIET, IN NASHUA HOME WITH WIFE

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES W. SPALDING.

Frederick from Joliet after serving for crime he says he never committed, comes back to old home with wife to confront men whose alleged villainy added to his misery.

Served Jail Sentence for Crime He Declares He Never Committed, Now Returns to Old Home to Confront Men for Alleged Villainy in His Trouble.

Special to the Sunday American, Nashua, N. H., Sept. 17.—After an absence of eight years, Mr. Charles W. Spalding, now a free man, returned to his home in Nashua, N. H., today, accompanied by his wife, whom he married during his absence, and whose patient and untiring efforts he owes his freedom to.

To the amazement of half a dozen friends, who were at the station to see him, Mr. Spalding, who had been in the State Prison at Joliet, Ill., for a period of eight years, returned to his home in Nashua, N. H., today, accompanied by his wife, whom he married during his absence, and whose patient and untiring efforts he owes his freedom to.

Mr. Spalding, who had been in the State Prison at Joliet, Ill., for a period of eight years, returned to his home in Nashua, N. H., today, accompanied by his wife, whom he married during his absence, and whose patient and untiring efforts he owes his freedom to.

With a remarkably pretty woman of perhaps thirty years, a slender woman of light complexion, with a face that is a study in itself, Mr. Spalding, who had been in the State Prison at Joliet, Ill., for a period of eight years, returned to his home in Nashua, N. H., today, accompanied by his wife, whom he married during his absence, and whose patient and untiring efforts he owes his freedom to.

Mr. Spalding, who had been in the State Prison at Joliet, Ill., for a period of eight years, returned to his home in Nashua, N. H., today, accompanied by his wife, whom he married during his absence, and whose patient and untiring efforts he owes his freedom to.

When in the bank, he stated it was a very good thing that he was released, and that he was now free to go home. He stated that he was now free to go home, and that he was now free to go home.

What Really Happened.

At 11 o'clock this morning, a delicate dressed little woman stepped from a train at the Nashua station. Immediately her friends came to meet her, and she was greeted with a warm and cordial welcome. She was then taken to her home in Nashua, N. H., where she was met by her husband, Mr. Charles W. Spalding.

ACCUSE GERMAN CAPTAIN OF DISHONOR. MOST RECENT PICTURE OF THE CZAR OF RUSSIA

By Malvina Clarke.
Special cable to Sunday American.
London, Sept. 17.—The German captain who was accused of dealing with the Japanese in the South Sea Islands, was today the subject of a sensational play in the London theatres. The play, which is called "The Captain of Dishonor," is a drama in four acts, and is based on the story of the capture of the German ship "Kronprinzessin Luise" by the Japanese in 1900. The play is being performed at the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, and is attracting a large audience.

for One "Jennie J. Walsh"

WOULD-BE MOTORMAN
CAUGHT FOR $5 EACH

Answered Fake Ad and Sent
Money as Deposit—Letters
Held and the Cash Will Be Returned—No Sign of Walsh

By causing the issuance by the postal authorities of a fraud order against Jennie
J. Walsh of Boston, in whose name box
No. 504 in the postoffice was hired, Postoffice Inspector Hovey believes he is in the midst of a clever scheme of a few months ago, and, incidentally, prevented the originator from receiving $200 as the result of one day's work.

Jennie J. Walsh, or whoever it is that originated the scheme, has disappeared and no trace of her can be found. After address was given to the postal authorities as the first step in the scheme, it is probable that she has been in the city for some time.

The scheme was started with an advertisement in the newspapers offering for sale of town of $3 a day. The advertisement was signed "Jennie J. Walsh," and the advertiser was a man who had been in the city for some time.

MANY TRANSFERS ARE MADE IN ROXBURY

New England Storage Warehouse Co. Buys Block on George and Howard Streets.
Will Spend $140,000 on It

Although there is no "boom" in the local real estate field, business among the brokers is regarded by them as satisfactory. Large transactions have not been infrequent of late in Boston, and much interest has centered around the sale of the block on George and Howard streets in Roxbury.

The property No. 111 Commonwealth avenue has been conveyed by Frederick A. Whitwell to Anna K. Snow. The block is a large one, and the new owner has announced her intention to build a large storage warehouse on the site.

Another transfer of importance is the sale of the block on George and Howard streets. The block is a large one, and the new owner has announced her intention to build a large storage warehouse on the site.
